Dear friends and neighbors,
This year, the Brewster Chamber of Commerce celebrates its 60th anniversary. How do we view that? Sixty years old? Sixty years young? I say we’re sixty years STRONG.

For more than half a century, amid the turns in the economy, the rises and dips in membership and population, trends, successes and setbacks, we have endured because at our heart is our hometown. Our mission, since 1957, has been to support, grow and network our area businesses and through them, benefit our community. Our members have kept- and will keep- Brewster vital and we at the BCoC pledge to continue to do our part to help them thrive. So as we celebrate out 60th and look forward to the coming years, we thank all the businesses that have been Chamber members—past, present and future. And we thank our community for supporting us in turn. Shop Local!

This year’s Brewster Chamber Directory & Community Resource Guide is once again filled with value. It not only showcases the wide array of Chamber member business and services in our local area, but it also provides a thorough listing of important and helpful government information and community organizations and resources. Plus, we’ve included events and places and history of interest.

To those who received our first publication, we hope that you will find this latest edition even more helpful. To those new to the area, “Welcome.” The Chamber of Commerce is here for you. We are an excellent resource for recommendations and information as you make your home here. Please avail yourself of our services. We always welcome new businesses to join us (you’ll find an application in the back of this guide). We are strong in number and commitment. You’ll find us a valuable asset to doing business and prospering here.

Enjoy our 60th Anniversary edition of the Brewster Chamber of Commerce Directory and Community Resource Guide. Within its pages you’ll discover why our slogan is, “ALL ROADS LEAD TO BREWSTER.”

Sincerely,

Rose Z. Aglieco

Welcome to the Town of Southeast!

Located at the crossroads of Interstate Route 84 and 684, the Town of Southeast offers residents and visitors of all ages a perfectly balanced lifestyle. From the electrified train line traveling into Manhattan to the breathtaking landscape dotted with New York City reservoirs. The small town friendliness, natural beauty, strong educational system, and a multitude of recreational programs are only some of the reasons why the Town of Southeast offers the best of all worlds.

Located in the beautiful Hudson Valley, Southeast is host to both quality retail outlets and excellent employment opportunities. Southeast, which has the lowest property taxes in Putnam County, is a prime location for start-ups or businesses seeking to relocate. Approvals are in place for a large retail center near the Connecticut border and a new 57-room motel is nearing completion. At the next exit on Route 84, traveling west, there is also an approval for a large-scale retail shopping center and a 100-room hotel.

Southeast is also supportive of the Arts and recently leased the Old Town Hall to the Town of Southeast Cultural Arts Coalition. The Coalition is working tirelessly to open the historic auditorium for theater, music and other Arts programs. The newly-renovated lower level showcases local art, educational programs and world class music events.

In order to provide residents, visitors and businesses with up to the minute information, the Town completely updated their Website in 2016, www.southeast-ny.gov. The website is an excellent way to explore the Town of Southeast and learn more about local activities and attractions.

There’s an entire world to explore in Southeast. From hiking and fishing, to the Arts and numerous business opportunities. Southeast offers something for everyone!

Tony Hay, Supervisor
A LETTER FROM THE MAYOR,
Village of Brewster

Congratulations on reaching your sixtieth anniversary serving the community of Brewster and Southeast!

As a past Chamber of Commerce President I can appreciate the hard work and dedication of all the staff and volunteers on a continuing basis. Your hearts and minds are in the right place and we greatly appreciate it.

The Village of Brewster is on the verge of revitalization and is set to contribute to the vibrancy of our community and the region through increased housing opportunities, retail, commercial, and restaurant space, and plenty of parking for commuters and shoppers alike.

Our Revitalization has been a work in progress for over four years and as you can see from our conceptual drawing the transformation into Transit Oriented Development (TOD) will be dramatic while retaining the Main Street charm we have all come to appreciate. This conceptual drawing shows phase I of the Urban Renewal Plan. There are four more phases identified including the abandoned Garden Street School. Stay tuned because Brewster’s transformation is exciting and holds great promise for an improved economy, more opportunities for recreation and a stronger sense of community and common purpose.

The goal from the start has been simple, to make the village a destination. I urge you to follow along with us in our quarterly newspaper “The Village Matters” or on our website brewsterville-nv.gov and Facebook page @brewstervillegeny, and join us at meetings as the developer starts the submittal and approval process.

We look forward to welcoming many of our previous businesses back home to the Village once progress is well underway and that would include the Chamber of Commerce where it was located for many years. These are exciting times and we want you to become part of our transformation and rebirth. Thank you for being a driving force in our community and congratulations again on reaching such an major milestone.

Thank you,

James J Schoenig
Mayor of Brewster

History of the Town of Southeast and the Village of Brewster

By Amy Campanaro, Museum Director

The Town of Southeast, incorporated in 1788, is located approximately fifty miles north of New York City in Putnam County. It is bordered by the Town of Patterson to the north, Town of Carmel to the west, Westchester County to the south, and Connecticut to the east. Within the Town’s borders lies the Village of Brewster, whose history is interwoven with that of Southeast.

Putnam County was originally part of Dutchess County. Most of Dutchess and what became Putnam County were part of the Philpse patent except for a strip of land on the east called “the Oblong.” The ownership of this parcel was the source of a long-standing dispute between Connecticut and New York that dated back to the mid-1600s. It wasn’t until 1731, when the Treaty of Dover provided a temporary settlement of the border in New York State’s favor, that villages and towns began to grow. In the early part of the eighteenth century, families from Cape Cod and Long Island began settling in the Oblong along the East Branch of the Croton River. The river valley provided rich fertile soil ideal for farming and an agrarian economy evolved.

The Croton River furnished power for mills and small factories, fostering the development of several small towns: Milltown, Sodom (Southeast Center), De Forest Corners and Doanesburg. Agricultural and cottage industries formed the basis of the local economy. Crops and other products were transported across the county to Peekskill and then by sloop to New York City.

During the 1830s, many farmers in the area began to invest in a new and unique business venture: traveling menageries and circuses. Southeast became known as the “Cradle of the American Circus,” as many important early shows were based here. Animals were kept in local barns with winter quarters, at one time, on Starr Ridge Road.

In 1849, when the Harlem Line Railroad reached Southeast, and connected the town to New York City, it brought about everlasting change. Walter Brewster, a local architect and builder, foresaw the economic opportunities that the railroad could bring to Southeast. He purchased 134 acres of farmland and constructed passenger and freight depots for the railroad company, thus insuring that the train would stop on his property, soon referred to as “Brewster’s Station.” Brewster constructed over 50 homes and businesses and mapped out Main Street for the stages that would transport passengers and cargo to nearby Danbury, Connecticut. In 1881, a second railroad, the Putnam Line, reached the area and the Town of Southeast was coined the “Hub of the Harlem Valley.” The new Putnam Line was the fastest route between New York and Boston. Brewster Village became a thriving commercial and transportation center and was incorporated as a separate municipality in 1894.

The railroads fostered the growth of two local industries: mining and dairy. Iron mining had previously been hindered by the expense of transporting iron ore to the blast furnaces where steel was produced. Southeast’s largest and most prosperous mine was the Tilly Foster Mine. At its height of production in 1879, the mine employed approximately 300 workers and yielded 7,000 tons of iron ore per month. The mine closed in 1897 after a disastrous collapse. It is still known worldwide for the extensive range of rocks and minerals found at its site.

At the same time as Tilly Foster Mine’s prosperity, the dairy industry also blossomed in Southeast. In 1864 Gail Borden constructed a milk condensery (a product supplied extensively to soldiers during the Civil War, and which saved the lives of many newborns of the era at risk by tainted cows’ milk) at the present day juncture of Routes 6 and 22. The New York Condensed Milk Factory was the largest and most advanced plant at that time. Over 200 dairy farmers supplied 20,000 gallons of milk to the factory each day. The factory served as a foundation for the local economy for over fifty years until the Borden Company closed its operation in Brewster, concentrating on its mid-west productions.
While the Town of Southeast prospered in the latter part of the nineteenth century, its economic and physical landscape changed dramatically by the turn of the twentieth century with the construction of the Croton Reservoir System, which supplies drinking water to New York City. Of the eleven dams and reservoirs built on the Croton River from the 1870s through the 1910s, four are in Southeast. Much of the best farmland was flooded and many properties were condemned in order to protect the purity of these watershed areas. These water systems left an indelible mark on the town economy and landscape well into the latter part of the twentieth century when environmental concerns affected development in the watershed. These restrictions still impact today.

The history of the Village of Brewster and the Town of Southeast is rich and full. While there are few visible traces of the area’s past, their history—farm and dairy industries, the cradle of the early American circus, iron mining, a transportation hub for two major railroads and the extensive Croton Reservoir system—can still be explored at the Southeast Museum today.

The revitalization of a beloved gem in the heart of the Village

The Village of Brewster is very proud to re-open Wells Park for its second season on Memorial Day weekend 2017. The wholly renovated and upgraded Wells Park has refreshed restrooms, a pavilion with barbecue grills and six picnic tables, three playgrounds and a tennis court. The center of the park is a large, open multi-purpose field with a stage at one end and tiered seating at the other.

The Wells Park pavilion is a great space for parties and other group gatherings, and it is available for rent through the Village Office. It’s a wonderful outdoor venue for films and concerts and the space is perfect for family get-togethers, graduations, company picnics or just summer fun!

It’s best to check with local news sources—see “Media Outlets” in our Directory’s Resource list—as well as the Brewster Chamber itself, as the winter holidays approach, for the most up-to-date information on all the special activities planned.

Some annual events to look forward to this year include:

Annual Tree Lighting. This event is presented through a combined effort by various local organizations.

The 15th Annual Festival of Trees, a signature holiday event and large annual fundraiser. It was created as an invitation to the community to participate in creating a family-friendly holiday gathering that also underwrites the clinical services programs provided by Ann’s Place, a local organization that supports and guides anyone on a cancer journey, including patients, family and loved ones. The Festival features a tree-decorating competition, artisans/crafts, silent auction, food vendors and more. Visit: www.annsplacefestivaloftrees.org.

Holiday Caroling and Tree Lighting. For over 20 years the Southeast Museum has been merrying up the holidays with this event. Meet at the museum for singing on Main Street and tree lighting. Usually preceded by a free children’s activity. www.southeastmuseum.org.

Putnam Chorale usually performs a Winter Concert in addition to their Annual Messiah Sing. For more, visit putnamchorale.org.

The Brewster Central Schools Winter Concerts feature an outstanding array of talented student singers and musicians and is open to the public. www.brewsterschools.org

The local Toys For Tots Winter Celebration takes place the second Saturday in December, at the Brewster Ice Arena and includes an afternoon of free entertainment (with donations welcome, of course!), raffle, plus a visit by Santa and Mrs. Claus (escorted by Marines). A free skating pass given to any rink enthusiast who donates a toy, but the event is open to the general public, too!

And for your pets who love the holidays, Brook Farm Veterinary Center hosts an Annual Pet Photos with Santa Paws event. FREE photos with Santa Paws, plus refreshments, tours of Santa’s workshop (the practice), specially curated toys and dog treats, and raffle. We opened our first humble grocery store on Katonah Avenue in the Bronx over 40 years ago. We made it our mission to offer premium quality meat, the freshest produce and seafood, homemade baked goods, and a comprehensive specialty grocery selection, all while delivering unsurpassed customer service and maintaining the core values of a family owned and operated business.

We continue those traditions today, and our Brewster location hosts groundbreaking features such as a full-service craft beer and wine bar with an outdoor patio, a wood-burning brick oven pizzeria, and a spacious dining area. A newly expanded fresh mozzarella island is also the home to a variety of fresh pasta, gourmet cheeses and crackers, imported meats, truffles, caviar, and our homemade sauces. We feature extensive gluten-free, natural and organic, and local sections in our grocery, dairy, and frozen departments. We also enhanced our already meticulously curated selection of fresh local produce, meat, seafood, bakery, dairy and grocery selections to deliver a wholly unique shopping experience.

Our full-service deli has a variety of freshly made salads, entrées and sides, as well as a extensive line of Boar’s Head cold cuts. Catering is also available.

Our full-service craft beer & wine bar offers counter-pressure filled growlers, which allows you to take home any of our many draft beer selections.

Our wood-burning brick pizza oven makes a wide variety of award-winning pizzas, as well as stromboli, calzones, garlic knots and other delights.
